I hereby declare that:

Each inventor's residence, mailing address, and citizenship are as stated below next to their name.

I believe the inventor(s) named below to be the original and first inventor(s) of the subject matter which is claimed and for which a patent is sought on the invention entitled:

Reversible Necktie

(Title of the Invention)

the specification of which is attached hereto

OR

was filed on (MM/DD/YYYY)

as United States Application Number or PCT International

Application Number

and was amended on (MM/DD/YYYY)

(if applicable).

I hereby state that I have reviewed and understand the contents of the above identified specification, including the claims, as amended by any amendment specifically referred to above.

I acknowledge the duty to disclose information which is material to patentability as defined in 37 CFR 1.56, including for continuation-in-part applications, material information which became available between the filing date of the prior application and the national or PCT international filing date of the continuation-in-part application.

I hereby claim foreign priority benefits under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) or (f), or 365(b) of any foreign application(s) for patent, inventor's or plant breeder's rights certificate(s), or 365(a) of any PCT international application which designated at least one country other than the United States of America, listed below and have also identified below, by checking the box, any foreign application for patent, inventor's or plant breeder's rights certificate(s), or any PCT international application having a filing date before that of the application on which priority is claimed.

LIST OF INVENTOR DUTIES

An applicant for patent owes a duty of candor and good faith to the United States Patent Office. This duty applies equally to any person who assisted at any time in the prosecution of the patent, including the attorney. To satisfy this obligation, all information known to be material to the patentability of any claim must be disclosed to the Patent Office. There is no requirement to search for information that might prove adverse to your invention, however, any knowledge that you currently possess or later come into possession of, must be disclosed. If at any time it is determined that you failed to comply, invalidation of the patent will result. Full disclosure of all relevant information prior to the issuance of the patent, although not a guarantee, does serve to bolster the presumption that your patent is valid.

An applicant for patent must also describe the best mode known to the inventor for carrying out the invention at the time that the inventor files the application. The description must be sufficient to enable one skilled in the art of the invention to make and use the same.

With the former in mind, please let us know whether the answer to any of the following questions is no so that we can bring it to the attention of the Patent Office:

- Have all the contributors to each and every claim in the patent been disclosed? ☒ Yes ☐ No
- Is the application technically correct? ☒ Yes ☐ No
- Have all necessary features of the invention been described in the application? ☒ Yes ☐ No
- Are all limitations necessary to the invention described in the application? ☒ Yes ☐ No
- Is the best method for making and using the invention disclosed in the application? ☒ Yes ☐ No
- Does the application disclose all details necessary to enable one skilled in the art to make and use the invention? ☒ Yes ☐ No
- Have all important points known to the inventor been disclosed to the attorney, e.g.; sales, offers to sell the invention, public use, commercial use? ☒ Yes ☐ No
- Have the most relevant references been disclosed to the attorney and have the most relevant parts been pointed out and explained where necessary? ☒ Yes ☐ No
